

Manaakitanga
Builds on the strength's abilities and skills of the person and of the people in their lives

The Kauri feeds and beautifies the Ngahere, the birds, and elevates their strengths.

The third layer is to recognise all people have strengths. It also encompasses values of respect generosity and care of one and other hospitality and mutual respect.

Manaakitanga is displayed by acknowledging Mana, strengths and self-worth of others as having equal or greater importance than one's own, and through supporting the enhancement of people's current abilities and skills and providing opportunities for the development of new abilities.
